

DoJ stages large-scale rule of law drama "Rule of Law Academy - Adventure to the Stars" today and tomorrow (with photos)

The Department of Justice (DoJ) will hold a large-scale Rule of Law Drama Day today and tomorrow (May 3 and 4) at the Grand Theatre of the Hong Kong Cultural Centre, presenting the drama "Rule of Law Academy - Adventure to the Stars" under the "Rule of Law through Drama" project. The drama will promote rule of law education to senior primary students and parents in an interesting and interactive manner. The two performances are expected to attract about an audience of about 2 000 people.

The Secretary for Justice, Mr Paul Lam, SC, and the Deputy Secretary for Justice, Dr Cheung Kwok-kwan, make their debut in "Rule of Law Academy - Adventure to the Stars". Playing the roles of the Principal and Vice-principal of the Rule of Law Academy respectively, they lead students on a thrilling adventure to practise the spirit of respect, integrity, justice and law-abidingness in order to win the honor of "Rule of Law Star", thereby conveying the important messages of "uphold justice, uphold the rule of law".

By integrating knowledge and creativity with rich interactive elements, the drama aims to encourage students and parents to practise the spirits of integrity, mutual respect, equality and law-abiding awareness in their daily choices and actions, and to make rule of law education an integral part of family education.

The DoJ has launched the "Rule of Law through Drama" project since 2021. Through lively, interesting and interactive performances, students can learn the proper concept of the rule of law, enhance their law-abiding awareness and cultivate a law-abiding spirit. The project has been well received with over 300 drama performances presented for primary schools in various districts across the territory since its launch.
