

Michael Beckett is an accredited mediator and solicitor. He qualified as a mediator in 1993 at Bond University in Queensland, Australia and has had 20 years' experience in resolving disputes in Australia and Hong Kong. Family law has been a large part of his mediation practice, although he has also been extensively involved in mediating commercial, employment and building disputes.

Michael is on the Panel of Assessors for the Hong Kong Mediation Accreditation Association Limited and is also a Hong Kong Mediation Accreditation Association Limited Stage 1 mediation accreditation course trainer. He was a Member of Secretary for Justice's Working Group on Mediation and is currently a Member of the Hong Kong Mediation Accreditation Association Limited's Working Group on Accreditation Standards and its Family Mediation Sub-group and also a Member of the Mediator Admission Committee of the Law Society of Hong Kong.

Michael has been a Teaching Fellow at the City University of Hong Kong since 2007. His main area of teaching is Mediation and Negotiation and he also teaches Family Law.