

Jenny Fung joined the Civil Service as an Assistant Registrar in the Trade Marks Registry of the Registrar General's Department (now the Intellectual Property Department). While she was working in the Registrar General's Department, she obtained a Bachelor of Laws Degree from the University of London. In 1990, she won a Government Legal Scholarship to study for the Postgraduate Certificate in Law at the University of Hong Kong and joined the then Attorney General's Chambers as a trainee solicitor.

In 1993, Jenny was appointed a Crown Counsel and spent her first year in the Prosecutions Division. She then moved to the Civil Division where she has worked exclusively in the Civil Litigation Unit, apart from a short period at the Planning, Environment, Lands & Housing (Advisory) Unit. Jenny has handled a wide variety of cases involving administrative law, personal injuries, tax, town planning, and environmental law. In September 2011, Jenny was promoted to the rank of Assistant Principal Government Counsel, a post which she took until she was promoted to the rank of Deputy Principal Government Counsel in the following year.

In March 2010, Jenny led a delegation to Guangzhou to present a paper on "The Administrative Disputes Resolution System Adopted by the Hong Kong Government" at an academic conference involving delegates from the Mainland, Taiwan, Macao and Hong Kong. In August 2013, Jenny assumed the role of the Secretary to the Steering Committee on Mediation chaired by the Secretary for Justice where she provided support to the work of the Steering Committee in the promotion of mediation. She is an accredited mediator of the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution and the Hong Kong Mediation Accreditation Association Limited. She has conducted a series of seminars for civil servants on mediation in 2013 and early 2014.
