Disputes in Small Claims Tribunal (“SCT”) mainly involve different kinds of community disputes, such as water seepage disputes, consumer services disputes, renovation disputes etc. Mediation is suitable to resolve these kinds of disputes quickly and amicably. Mediation is available in recent years to parties of SCT cases to facilitate the parties’ consideration of early settlement, under the Small Claims Mediation Pilot Scheme (“pilot scheme”) implemented in the West Kowloon Mediation Centre. The pilot scheme is a great success with around 50% of cases settled after mediation.

From early July 2022 onwards, the Judiciary will operate a new mediation office, namely the Integrated Mediation Office (West Kowloon) (“IMO(WK)”) in the West Kowloon to continue to provide information sessions and pre-mediation consultation on court-related mediation, and arrange mediation services for parties involved in SCT cases. This event will provide you with information about the IMO(WK) to be operated by the Judiciary, insights on why mediation is suitable for SCT cases, and the skills necessary for mediators to successfully handle such cases. The audience will also have the opportunity to directly interact with The Honourable Mr Justice Lam PJ and other SCT adjudicators during the Q&A session.
