We are delighted to present to you the 2nd issue of the Bulletin. To further enhance the quality and coverage of the Bulletin, from this issue onward it will be co-published by the Legal Policy Division (“LPD”) of the Department of Justice and the Civil Service Training and Development Institute (“CSTDI”). While the Basic Law Unit of the LPD will remain primarily responsible for the editorial work of the Bulletin, the CSTDI will provide input in the planning and design of its content from the staff training and development angle, and fund its design work, printing and distribution.

In this issue we have a summary of the three latest judgments of the Court of Final Appeal on the right of abode issue with an introductory commentary on their background to facilitate your understanding of these cases. The feature article in this issue discusses the constitutional relationship between the Mainland and the HKSAR in the light of the concept of high degree of autonomy. Apart from the regular columns, we have for the first time included some “sidelights” on the Basic Law, which we hope you will find interesting.
